Helping Organizations Express Who They Have Become: For more than 40 years, Odgis + Co has helped professional services, financial services, commercial real estate, and law firms navigate their most important moments of change through strategic branding and exceptional design. We help organizations express who they have become while preserving the trust, recognition, and equity they have spent years building.

Our Approach: Every engagement begins with understanding. Working closely with our clients, we uncover what makes their organization distinctive and build alignment around a clear, authentic brand that leadership embraces and employees believe in. We then bring that vision to life through strategic branding, compelling storytelling, and exceptional design across every touchpoint.

Why Odgis + Co: Our strength lies in combining strategic thinking with exceptional design. We believe the strongest brands are built by uncovering an organization's true essence and expressing it with clarity, relevance, and purpose through design that is timeless, memorable, and beautifully executed.

We distill an organization's essence into brands that inspire confidence, preserve trust, and drive meaningful growth.
